

Calcium Carbonate. A Versatile Mineral

Calcium carbonate is an ore found in nature that is employed in different sectors due to its special nature. It is versatile and plays a major role in the pharmaceutical industry, agriculture, plastics, paper production, among others. Mewar Microns acknowledges that this is a very important mineral and has, therefore, become a major supplier of this mineral to the global marketplace. Calcium carbonate is a significant and all-purpose compound in the minerals and chemicals world. We are a leading Calcium Carbonate Manufacturer in India and have been supplying the market with the best calcium carbonate products to diverse sectors. This is mainly attributed to their unique product array, unwavering dedication to excellence, and commitment to client-focused strategies.

Mewar Microns' Commitment to Quality

Quality is top notch for us. The company's facilities are of the highest standard and have the latest technology to produce top class calcium carbonate. Quality controls at every stage of manufacturing to ensure homogeneity and purity.

Manufacturing Process

This shows our devotion to excellence in their calcium carbonate manufacturing process. Their production of high quality products involves sophisticated techniques and an environmentally friendly approach. The company takes pride in its sustainable practices, which have seen it awarded with certifications for environmental stewardship.

