

Trump Delays TikTok Ban for 75 Days After CEO's Attendance at Inaugurationaa

In a significant move, President Donald Trump has ordered a temporary halt on the nationwide TikTok ban for 75 days, providing the Chinese-owned app more time to address concerns regarding its ownership and operations in the United States. This decision follows a tumultuous period in which TikTok took itself offline for over 12 hours on January 19, 2025, amid the impending ban. TikTok's status in the U.S. has been a source of tension for months, with national security concerns surrounding its Chinese ownership by ByteDance.
