Imagine a skincare treatment that combines the best of exfoliation, extraction, and hydration—all in one seamless process. That's precisely what HydraFacial offers. This non-invasive, multi-step procedure is designed to cleanse, exfoliate, extract impurities, and hydrate your skin. The magic lies in its vortex-fusion technology, which uses a patented device to deliver nourishing serums while simultaneously removing debris and dead skin cells.

The Four Steps to Glowing Skin

The HydraFacial treatment consists of four fundamental steps: cleansing and exfoliation, acid peel, extraction, and hydration. Each step plays a crucial role in rejuvenating your skin, leaving you with a radiant complexion.

Step 1: Cleansing and Exfoliation

The journey begins with a gentle cleansing to remove surface-level dirt and oil. Following this, the HydraFacial device exfoliates dead skin cells, unveiling a fresh canvas for the subsequent steps. This initial cleanse sets the stage for the transformative process ahead.

Step 2: Acid Peel

Don't let the term "acid peel" intimidate you. HydraFacial employs a mild mix of glycolic and salicylic acids to gently loosen debris and impurities from your pores. This step promotes a renewed texture, preparing your skin for the extraction phase.

Step 3: Extraction

Bid farewell to pesky blackheads and impurities. The extraction step employs a painless vortex suction to remove debris from your pores, giving your skin a clean slate. It's like a vacuum for
