Bloom Baby Classes are one of the leading baby class providers in the UK.

Each week over 15000 parents in the UK alone attend our multi sensory baby development classes and quickly fall in love with our fun range of activities that promote the natural development of infants.

Established in 2017 by mum of 3 Victoria Jennings Bloom Baby Classes launched originally in Stockport, Greater Manchester. The popularity of the classes quickly grew and Victoria was receiving demand for her classes across the UK. In November 2018 Bloom Baby Classes franchised the business and launched its franchise model across the UK. To date Bloom Baby Classes has close to 100 members of both its Bloom Baby Classes network and new Bloom Toddler Classes network. Each member of the Bloom network shares Victoria's passion for supporting parental wellbeing and encouraging the natural development of infants and early years children. The franchise offers individuals the opportunity to own a successful proven business running its expert baby classes in their local areas.

In 2008 Founder Victoria Jennings welcomed her first child into the world and quickly found that adapting to life as a new mum was not as easy as she had first expected it to be. As a new mum she struggled to bond with her firstborn and struggled massively during her first year of becoming a mum. With qualifications and many years experience working in Early Years settings Victoria decided to create her own set of baby classes centred around the wellbeing of parents. Victoria's aim was to create a programme of activities that were backed with extensive research and followed the Early Years Foundation Stages of Learning. It was also important that each activity also benefited the wellbeing of parents and carers who attended and since its launch in 2017 Bloom Baby Classes has quickly grown across the UK and is now enjoyed by thousands of parents each week.
