

Rare 4-foot creature washes up on coast despite usually living in rivers

Mission-Aransas Reserve research director Jace Tunnek identified the 'rare' four-foot-long worm-like creature that had washed ashore on a Texas beach as an American Eel

Amazing footage has emerged showing 'rare' 4-foot-long creature that had washed ashore on a Texas beach – despite usually being found in rivers.

