

Davido Claims Best Doctors in America are Nigeriansaa

Afrobeats singer, Davido, has made a claim that the best doctors in the United States are of Nigerian descent. He made this statement during an appearance on the Afric TV program, where he highlighted the contributions of Africans to various professional and creative sectors.

Davido emphasized the significance of African talent, stating that Africans bring innovative ideas to the global music industry. He also pointed out that Western filmmakers are increasingly turning to Africa for movie ideas.

While Nigerians are indeed renowned for their excellence in the medical field, statistics do not necessarily support the claim that they are the best doctors in America.
