

Model Olajumoke Onibread Accuses Ex-Husband of Assault and Career Sabotageaa

Popular model Olajumoke Onibread has come forward with shocking allegations against her ex-husband, Sunday Orisaguna, accusing him of physical assault and ruining her career.

In an emotional interview with City FM, Olajumoke recounted her experiences with domestic abuse, stating that her ex-husband would frequently beat her, often leaving her face and body swollen.

She recalled, "He would beat me to the extent that my face and body would be swollen. Sometimes he would even use a belt... I would hide what was happening because I didn't want my mother to hear."

Olajumoke attributed her decision to leave the marriage to a violent incident in January 2016, after which she relocated to Lagos with her two children.

The model also claimed that her ex-husband's actions led to the decline of her career, stating, "Since then, things started going down. He started spoiling my name... Everything started going down the drain after separation."

Olajumoke gained widespread recognition in 2016 after accidentally walking into a photoshoot with British rapper Tinie Tempah, captured by TY Bello.
